

Korchnoi Year by Year

Volume II (1969-1980)

Hans Renette and Tibor Karolyi

Korchnoi Year by Year: Volume II (1969-1980)

Authors: Hans Renette and Tibor Karolyi

Typesetting by Andrei Elkov

Front cover: Viktor Korchnoi on 15 November 1976 playing against Jan Timman. Portrait by Bert Verhoeff, National Archives, The Hague, ANeFo. Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication.

Back cover: Left to right Lothar Schmid, Danny Hagler, Bozidar Kazic, Olga Kazic, Vera Hagler, Jimmy Carter (Governor of the State of Georgia), Viktor Korchnoi, Bella Korchnaya, Vyacheslav Osnos, official accompanying the group on their tour. Atlanta, Georgia, 29 January 1974. Photo by Jessie Sampley. From the Korchnoi family archive.

© LLC Elk and Ruby Publishing House, Hans Renette and Tibor Karolyi, 2024. All rights reserved

Follow us on Twitter/X: @ilan_ruby

www.elkandruby.com

ISBN 978-5-6047849-6-9 (hardback), 978-5-6047849-5-2 (paperback)

*Dedicated to the memory of George Hollands (1984-2023), mad chess book collector, chess player and administrator, huge Korchnoi fan, partner to Chrissie and father to Alice.
Friend of chess book publishers everywhere. Taken from us far too soon.*

Contents

Index of Games	4
Introduction	8
1969	9
1970	32
1971	66
1972	95
1973	116
1974	161
1975	215
1976	239
Photos	273
1977	293
1978	348
1979	429
1980	462
Epilogue	517

Index of Games

Game	White	Black	Opening	Year
182	Kovacs	Korchnoi	French Defence	1969
183	Korchnoi	Gliksman	Fragment	1969
184	Korchnoi	Hort	Fragment	1969
185	Kozma	Korchnoi	Nimzo-Indian Defence	1969
186	Korchnoi	Plachetka	Benoni Defence	1969
187	Korchnoi	Furman	Ruy Lopez	1969
188	Korchnoi	Suetin	Queen's Gambit Accepted	1969
189	Korchnoi	Cobo Arteaga	Fragment	1969
190	Korchnoi	Panno	Fragment	1969
191	Korchnoi	Penrose	King's Indian Defence	1969
192	Korchnoi	Portisch	Fragment	1970 (m/1)
193	Portisch	Korchnoi	Fragment	1970 (m/4)
194	Fischer	Korchnoi	French Defence	1970
195	Kurajica	Korchnoi	Fragment	1970
196	Fischer	Korchnoi	Fragment	1970
197	Korchnoi	Pomar	Queen's Gambit Declined	1970
198	Filip	Korchnoi	Queen's Indian Defence	1970
199	Vaganian	Korchnoi	Fragment	1970
200	Korchnoi	Tseitlin	Grunfeld Defence	1970
201	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1970
202	Korchnoi	Doroshkevich	Queen's Gambit Declined	1970
203	Korchnoi	Najdorf	Fragment	1971
204	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1971
205	Korchnoi	Geller	Fragment	1971 (m/7)
206	Geller	Korchnoi	Fragment	1971 (m/8)
207	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1971
208	Korchnoi	Parma	Fragment	1971
209	Marovic	Korchnoi	Fragment	1971
210	Korchnoi	Balashov	King's Indian Defence	1971
211	Korchnoi	Spassky	Catalan Opening	1971
212	Pfleger	Korchnoi	Fragment	1971
213	Cioaltea	Korchnoi	Fragment	1972
214	Korchnoi	Robatsch	Fragment	1972
215	Korchnoi	Ree	Fragment	1972
216	Langeweg	Korchnoi	English Opening	1972
217	Matulovic	Korchnoi	Fragment	1972
218	Korchnoi	Cioaltea	King's Indian Defence	1972
219	Pomar	Korchnoi	Grunfeld Defence	1972
220	Ivanov	Korchnoi	Fragment	1973

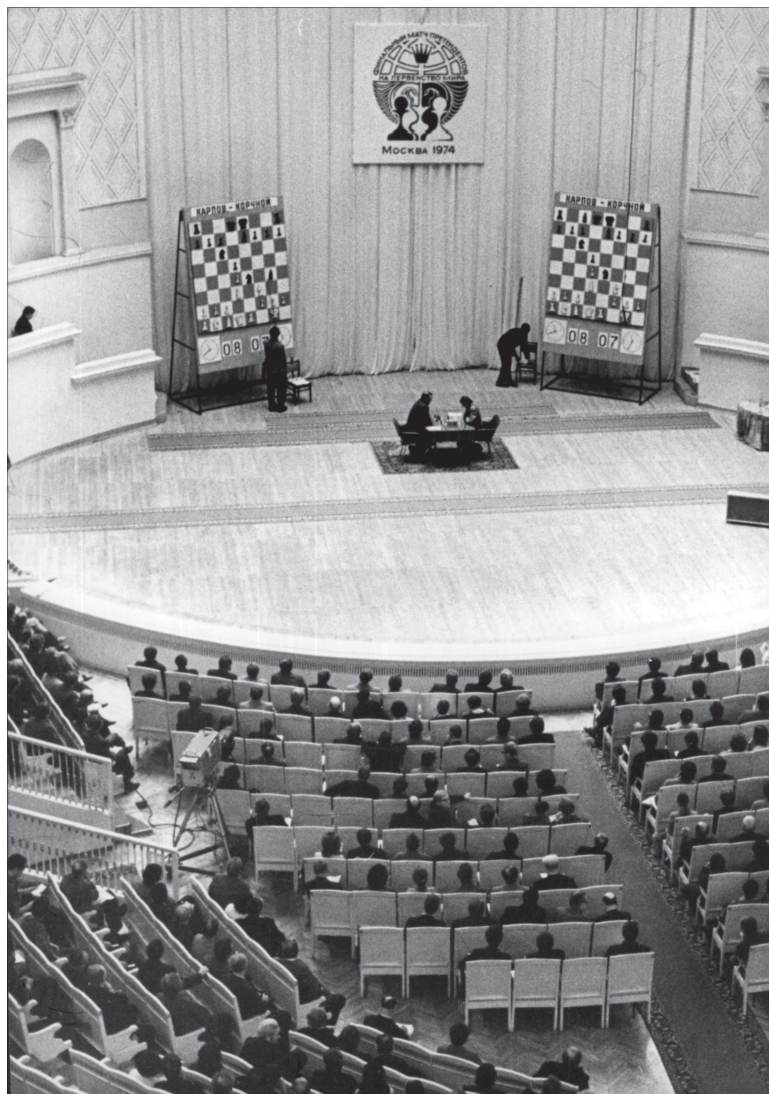

Game	White	Black	Opening	Year
221	Korchnoi	Makarov	Fragment	1973
222	Tukmakov	Korchnoi	Fragment	1973
223	Larsen	Korchnoi	Fragment	1973
224	Korchnoi	Torre	Fragment	1973
225	Korchnoi	Hübner	Sicilian Defence	1973
226	Bilek	Korchnoi	Reti Opening	1973
227	Rashkovsky	Korchnoi	Grunfeld Defence	1973
228	Korchnoi	Smyslov	Fragment	1973
229	Savon	Korchnoi	Pirc Defence	1973
230	Petrosian	Korchnoi	Grunfeld Defence	1973
231	Hübner	Korchnoi	English Opening	1973
232	Korchnoi	Mecking	Fragment	1974 (m/7)
233	Korchnoi	Mecking	Fragment	1974 (m/13)
234	Korchnoi	Petrosian	English Opening	1974 (m/1)
235	Korchnoi	Petrosian	English Opening	1974 (m/3)
236	Timman	Korchnoi	Fragment	1974
237	Korchnoi	Karpov	English Opening	1974 (m/1)
238	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1974 (m/5)
239	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1974 (m/13)
240	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1974 (m/15)
241	Korchnoi	Karpov	Trompowsky Attack	1974 (m/19)
242	Karpov	Korchnoi	Fragment	1974 (m/20)
243	Korchnoi	Karpov	Queen's Indian Defence	1974 (m/21)
244	Kapengut	Korchnoi	Ruy Lopez	1975
245	Korchnoi	Garcia	English Opening	1975
246	Korchnoi	Kholmov	Fragment	1975
247	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1975
248	Böhm	Korchnoi	Fragment	1975
249	Korchnoi	Sosonko	Queen's Gambit Declined	1975
250	Korchnoi	Keene	Queen's Gambit Declined	1976
251	Miles	Korchnoi	Fragment	1976
252	Korchnoi	Stean	Fragment	1976
253	Romanishin	Korchnoi	Grunfeld Defence	1976
254	Farago	Korchnoi	Fragment	1976
255	Korchnoi	Böhm	Fragment	1976
256	Timman	Korchnoi	French Defence	1976 (m/3)
257	Timman	Korchnoi	Ruy Lopez	1976 (m/7)
258	Hug	Korchnoi	Fragment	1977 (m/1)
259	Hug	Korchnoi	Fragment	1977 (m/3)
260	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1977 (m/5)
261	Petrosian	Korchnoi	Fragment	1977 (m/8)

Game	White	Black	Opening	Year
262	Petrosian	Korchnoi	Queen's Indian Defence	1977 (m/12)
263	Wirthensohn	Korchnoi	King's Indian Attack	1977
264	Ligterink	Korchnoi	Scotch Opening	1977
265	Korchnoi	Polugaevsky	Fragment	1977 (m/1)
266	Polugaevsky	Korchnoi	Queen's Pawn Game	1977 (m/6)
267	Korchnoi	Polugaevsky	Fragment	1977 (m/7)
268	Korchnoi	Spassky	Fragment	1977 (m/1)
269	Spassky	Korchnoi	French Defence	1977 (m/2)
270	Korchnoi	Spassky	Queen's Gambit Declined	1977 (m/7)
271	Spassky	Korchnoi	Fragment	1977 (m/8)
272	Korchnoi	Spassky	Fragment	1978 (m/17)
273	Spassky	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978 (m/18)
274	Mecking	Korchnoi	French Defence	1978
275	Miles	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978
276	Tatai	Korchnoi	French Defence	1978
277	Korchnoi	Kraidman	Fragment	1978
278	Hug	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978
279	Lombard	Korchnoi	Nimzo-Indian Defence	1978
280	Korchnoi	Karpov	Nimzo-Indian Defence	1978 (m/5)
281	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1978 (m/7)
282	Korchnoi	Karpov	Sicilian Defence	1978 (m/11)
283	Karpov	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978 (m/20)
284	Korchnoi	Karpov	Queen's Gambit Declined	1978 (m/21)
285	Karpov	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978 (m/22)
286	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1978 (m/25)
287	Karpov	Korchnoi	Ruy Lopez	1978 (m/28)
288	Korchnoi	Karpov	Fragment	1978 (m/29)
289	Korchnoi	Karpov	Queen's Gambit Declined	1978 (m/31)
290	Diez del Corral	Korchnoi	Fragment	1978
291	Korchnoi	Kavalek	King's Indian Defence	1978
292	Ljubojevic	Korchnoi	French Defence	1978
293	Andersson	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
294	Rocha	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
295	Grefe	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
296	Korchnoi	Miles	Fragment	1979
297	Korchnoi	Unzicker	Fragment	1979
298	Korchnoi	Rubineti	Fragment	1979
299	Wirthensohn	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
300	Hartoch	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
301	Huss	Korchnoi	Queen's Indian Defence	1979
302	R. Byrne	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979

Game	White	Black	Opening	Year
303	Korchnoi	Marovic	Fragment	1979
304	Christiansen	Korchnoi	Fragment	1979
305	Timman	Korchnoi	Fragment	1980
306	Korchnoi	R. Byrne	King's Indian Defence	1980
307	Korchnoi	Kovacevic	Fragment	1980
308	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1980 (m/1)
309	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1980 (m/3)
310	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1980 (m/5)
311	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Fragment	1980 (m/7)
312	Korchnoi	Petrosian	Queen's Gambit Declined	1980 (m/9)
313	Korchnoi	Nunn	Modern Benoni	1980
314	Korchnoi	Gheorghiu	English Opening	1980
315	Polugaevsky	Korchnoi	Fragment	1980 (m/4)
316	Polugaevsky	Korchnoi	Queen's Indian Defence	1980 (m/8)
317	Polugaevsky	Korchnoi	English Opening	1980 (m/14)
318	Hübner	Korchnoi	Fragment	1980 (m/7)
319	Korchnoi	Hübner	Queen's Gambit Accepted	1981 (m/8)
320	Hübner	Korchnoi	Fragment	1981 (m/9)
321	Korchnoi	Hübner	Fragment	1981 (m/10)

exaggerated, but I did have the feeling that if it looked as though I would win the match, something would happen to me, like an accident in the street. Again, that may sound paranoid, but there is no clear difference between paranoia and real fear in Russia. [Chess Life and Review, January 1978, p. 11]

On 23 November, the closing ceremony concluded the match. Here, Korchnoi received 1,500 roubles for his efforts. Karpov won one thousand more.

Korchnoi playing Karpov at the candidates final, 1974

Being watched by Kasparov at the candidates final, 1974

Playing against Kasparov in a simul, 1975

that the Soviets now had their man on stage.

Kazic was then appointed as deputy arbiter and Euwe himself would preside at meetings of the Jury if they occurred. With all these draws, a long match was expected, especially as Karpov seemed to have run out of steam. Keene was a little less pessimistic for his boss: during the past few weeks he had survived three fully lost positions. However, Korchnoi's luck finally came to an end in game 27. Initially, Korchnoi could not complain about his position, and a draw seemed certain. However, it deteriorated and in time trouble he made a big mistake which led to the loss of a pawn under unfavourable circumstances. It took some effort to resign, as Korchnoi was not present and he relied on Keene to deliver the message. This was not allowed, so Stean went to his villa. Korchnoi made a written note to resign, but it came too late – hence Korchnoi lost this game on time. In hindsight, Korchnoi acknowledged that he should have played quieter moves in this phase of the match. Karpov had been prepared for a duel of at most twenty-four games and by now he was physically in bad shape. Thus, Korchnoi believed he should have adopted a wait and see strategy until his opponent truly cracked.

With Karpov leading 5–2, the situation now seemed desperate for the challenger. Russian radio programs were interrupted with a message saying something to the effect of “Dear comrades, we’ve got him.” With an apparently nearby victory, a feast committee including Ivonin and Vitali Sevastianov (a former cosmonaut and the president of the chess federation) departed to the Philippines. However, Korchnoi decided to stand his ground as much as possible, and they were just in time in Baguio to watch Karpov lose game twenty-nine.

Not all was peaches and cream in Viktor's team. Filip, Kazic and Edmondson by chance encountered Korchnoi and his team in a French restaurant, where Stean told Edmondson about a shouting incident between Petra and Murey which lasted from midnight until 5 a.m.. Edmondson wrote: “The gist of his argument was that she had excessively harmed Viktor's cause by introducing politics, personalities and constant turmoil to an event which should have been focused solely on chess. It was Yasha's [Jacob's] unwavering view that Petra Leeuwerik had thereby cost Viktor Korchnoi the World Championship. Three days earlier, Yasha had forcefully voiced these opinions to Korchnoi and told him that either Petra had to leave or he (Yasha) intended to do so.” Murey didn't go so far as to actually leave, but for the first time in ages, he attended game 28 live in the playing hall, while Petra appeared banned. It was only after a few hours of play that Petra nevertheless came in, mainly to drop a mysterious white tablet in Korchnoi's orange juice.

Korchnoi was mostly invisible on the stage: after every move he withdrew to the dressing room. Karpov played the game insipidly.

Korchnoi, on the other hand, showed fine style but his adjourned move was weak. He sealed his move in an extremely complex 4-rooks endgame, but it was not the best – though the resources are hidden and tough to find. The team dedicated hours to the analysis of the position, not even stopping for breakfast or lunch. Keene didn't dare attend the start of the second session, but when he arrived an hour later he heard Korchnoi's typical laugh. Karpov had played too quickly (maybe thinking his position was gone), trying to exploit Korchnoi's time issues, and then did lose. Keene found Karpov's conduct here amazing as the position was unclear for him, not lost.

Game 287

A. Karpov – V. Korchnoi

World Championship Match (28),
Baguio City, 1978
Ruy Lopez (C82)

1.e4 e5 2.♘f3 ♘c6 3.♙b5 a6
4.♙a4 ♘f6 5.0-0 ♗xe4 6.d4 b5
7.♙b3 d5 8.dxe5 ♙e6 9.c3

Karpov doesn't want to get into a wild variation against an already prepared opponent. 9.♗bd2 ♘c5 10.c3 d4 was played a few more times by Korchnoi, but nobody repeated Zaitsev's imaginative 11.♗g5 piece sacrifice against him from game ten. It would be exciting to learn what Korchnoi planned to play against it, but on the other hand one can understand why Karpov was not curious to find out.

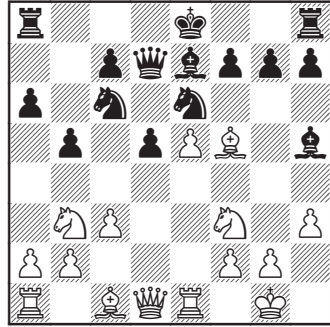

9...♗c5 10.♙c2 ♙g4 11.♖e1
♙e7 12.♗bd2 ♚d7 13.♗b3

Karpov plays a new move. He seeks to occupy the c5-square.

13...♘e6 14.h3

14.♚d3 ♙h5 15.♗fd4 ♙g6 will be played in Schmid-Korchnoi, London 1979.

14...♙h5 15.♙f5

15...♗cd8?!

Korchnoi wants to accomplish his aim on the queenside. They reached this position with a different move order in the game Larrain Cadaiz-Ujtumen 1966, where 15...♖d8 was played. 15...♙g6 16.♗fd4 is better than the game continuation, but Black's best is 15...0-0! 16.♚e2 (16.♙e3 ♙xf3!) 16...♙g6 17.g4, though White has a slight advantage.

16.♙e3?!

Karpov makes a reasonable move, but he misses the chance to gain a much larger advantage. White should act on the kingside at once with 16.h4!! . Then 16...c5 (on 16...♙g6 17.♙g4 is strong, or if 16...♙xf3 then 17.♚xf3 ♙xh4 18.♙e3 and Black's position is very passive, one would far prefer to play this as White) 17.g4 ♙g6 18.h5 ♙xf5 19.gxf5 ♗c7 20.♚c2.

16...a5 17.♙c5

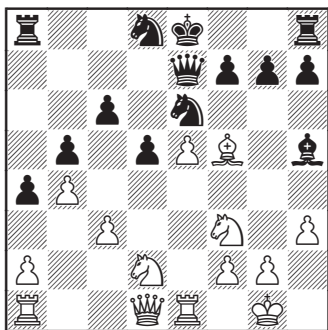

After 17.♖c5 ♕xc5 18.♕xc5 ♖g6 (18...g6 19.♕xe6 ♗xe6 20.♕e3 ♕xf3 21.♖xf3 c6 is playable for Black) 19.♕g4 h5 20.♕xe6 ♗xe6 21.♕e3 c5 the position is complex.

17...a4 18.♕xe7 ♖xe7 19.♗bd2

Tal and Kasparov call this move slackening, and Tal's next comment casts doubt upon it. After the preferable 19.♗bd4 ♗xd4 20.cxd4 ♕xf3 21.♖xf3 g6 22.♕d3 c6 White has a slight edge.

19...c6 20.b4

Karpov renders Black's queenside less flexible, but his own position also becomes a bit rigid. Tal: "Karpov did not evaluate his position optimistically." 20.♖c2 ♕g6 21.♗f1 0-0 would be balanced as well.

20...♗g5

Korchnoi looks to improve the d8-knight.

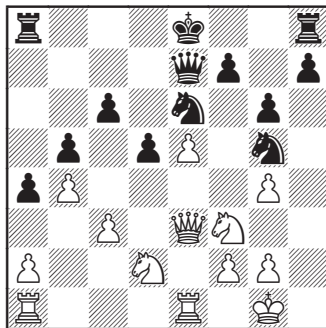

21.♖e2 g6 22.♕g4?!

The position is balanced after 22.♕d3 ♗de6 23.♖e3 ♕xf3 24.♗xf3 ♗xf3+ 25.♖xf3 0-0-0.

22...♕g4!

Korchnoi gets ready to open the h-file.

23.hxg4 ♗de6 24.♖e3

24...h5! 25.♗xg5

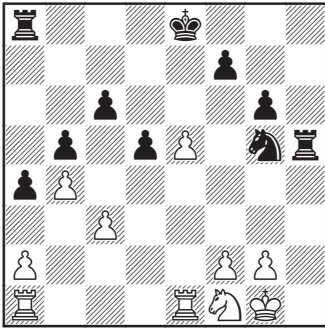

After 25.♖b6 ♖c8 26.gxh5 ♗xh5 27.♖ad1 ♗f8 Black would be better. On Tal's suggestion 25.♗h2 Black would gain a clear advantage with 25...hxg4 26.♗xg4 0-0-0!

25...♖xg5 26.♖xg5 ♗xg5 27.gxh5?!

One gets the feeling that Karpov had no appetite to play. It happened to Petrosian and Spassky as well after obtaining a strong lead in their world championship finals against each other (Petrosian in 1966 and Spassky in 1969). 27.f4! ♗e6 28.f5 ♗f4 (28...♗g7 – Tal: White “would be forced to make a material or positional concession.” However, after 29.♖f1 hxg4 30.fxg6 fxg6 31.♖f6 White had no problem at all. Or if 28...♗g5 29.♖f1 hxg4 30.fxg6 fxg6 31.♖f6 White holds easily) 29.♖f1 ♗e2+ (29...g5 30.♗f3) 30.♗f2 ♗xc3 31.fxg6 fxg6 32.♗e3 and White would not be worse because he is rather active.

27...♖xh5 28.♗f1

28.♖ad1 ♗e6 (after 28...♗e7 29.f3 ♖ah8 30.♗f2 Black would have some advantage) 29.g3 ♗e7 30.♗g2 ♖ah8 and White's position would be unpleasant after 31.♗f3 or 31.♗f3.

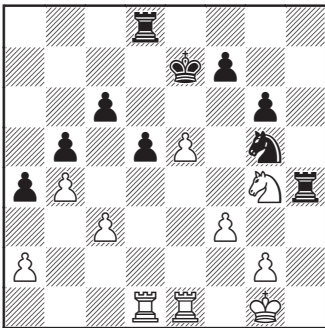

28...Rc4

Korchnoi wants to place his king on e7, but that costs him a tempo. After 28...0-0-0 29.f3 c7 30.Rad1 Ne6 Black's position is somewhat preferable. Compared with the game, White would be unable to improve his knight at once, as on 31.Nh2 Rf5 would be very strong.

29.Rad1 c7?! 30.f3 Ne6
31.Ne3!

Karpov decreases his disadvantage by improving his knight.

31...Rd8 32.Ng4 Ng5

33.Ne3

Karpov decides to mark time.

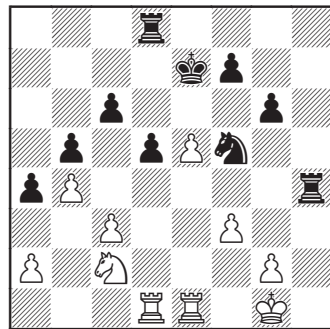

a) 33.a3 Rh8 (33...Ne4 34.Rd3) 34.f2 and White holds after 34...Ne4+ 35.fxe4 or 34...Ne6 35.f2e3.

b) Improving his king with 33.f2! looks preferable. 33...Ne4+

34.f2e3 Nxc3 35.Rd4 and Black can't prevent White from having enough compensation for the material disadvantage, as on 35...Nxa2 36.Ra1 Nc3 37.Rc1 or on 35...Ne4 36.Rc1 Ng3 37.Rd2 can be played.

33...Ne6 34.Ng4 Ng7 35.Ne3 Nf5 36.Nc2?!

Karpov should keep marking time with 36.Ng4!. On 36.Nxf5? gxf5 37.Rd4 f4 would win.

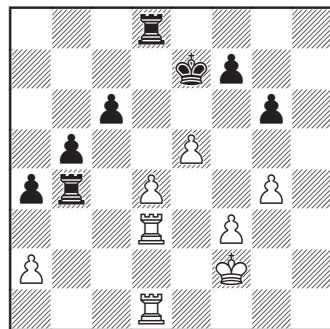

36...Rc4!

Korchnoi finds this precise move with little time left on the clock.

37.Rd3 d4

Korchnoi breaks up White's pawn chain with a temporary pawn sacrifice.

38.g4 Ng7 39.Nxd4 Ne6 40.Red1 Nxd4 41.cxd4 Rxb4 42.f2

42...c5!?

This is Korchnoi's sealed move, which gives him extremely good winning chances. Possibly, though, Black has an even better move: 42...♖b2+! 43.♖1d2

a) 43...♖xd2+ 44.♖xd2 ♔e6 45.♕e3 c5 46.f4 (46.dxc5 ♖xd2 47.♕xd2 ♕d5!)

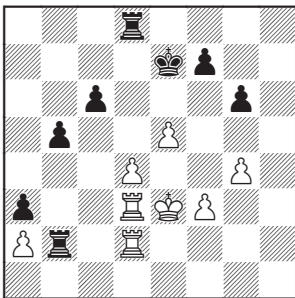

a1) 46...b4 47.f5+! (Kasparov misses this subtle check; 47.♕e4 f5+ and Black wins) 47...gxf5 48.gxf5+ ♕xf5 49.♖f2+ and White holds.

a2) 46...♖xd4 47.♖xd4 cxd4+ 48.♕e4! and White holds with Kasparov's brilliant move.

b) 43...a3!! . Commentators missed a hidden idea.

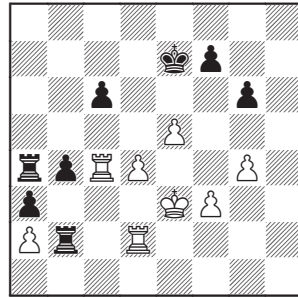

b1) 44.♖xb2 axb2 45.♖b3 ♖xd4 46.♖xb2 (after 46.♕e3 ♖d5 47.f4 g5 48.♖xb2 gxf4+ 49.♕xf4 ♕e6 Black is likely to win) 46...♕e6 47.♖c2 ♕d5 and Black wins.

b2) 44.♕e3

44...♖a8!! 45.♖c3 (45.f4 b4 46.f5 b3 wins for Black) 45...b4 46.♖c1 ♖a4!! This subtle move threatens b3 (46...♖a5 47.f4; 46...b3 47.axb3 ♖xb3+ 48.♕e4! and here one can see the point of placing the rook on a4, as with the rook on a4 Black wins by pushing the c-pawn) 47.♖c4

(47.f4 b3 48.axb3 ♖xb3+ 49.♕e4 c5 wins)

47...♖a5!! If the rook moves to another square on the file, Black could take the b2-rook. 48.♖c1 (48.f4 b3 wins) 48...b3 49.axb3 ♖xb3+ 50.♕e4 ♖b4 51.♖dc2 ♖aa4 52.♖xc6 ♖xd4+ 53.♕e3 ♖d5 54.♖c7+ ♕f8 and White would really struggle.

43.d5

Karpov and his team surely analysed this position deeply. Other moves do not save the game.

a) 43.dxc5 ♖xd3 44.♖xd3 ♖b2+ 45.♕e3 ♖xa2 46.c6 ♖c2 47.♖d5 ♖xc6 48.♖xb5 ♖a6 49.♖b2 a3 50.♖a2 g5 and Black wins as Tal pointed out.

b) 43.♕e3 c4 44.♖3d2 ♕e6

b1) 45.f4 ♕d5 46.♖h2 c3 47.♖c1 ♖b2 48.♖h7 b4 49.♖xf7 ♖h2 and Black wins after 50.f5 ♖h3+ 51.♕f4 gxf5 52.gxf5 b3

b2) 45.♕e4 f5+ 46.exf6 ♕xf6 b2.1) 47.♖h2 a3 48.♖h7 ♖e8+ 49.♕d5 ♕g5 50.♖a7 ♖b2 51.♖xa3 b4 52.f4+ (52.♖a5 c3) 52...♕xf4 53.♖f1+ ♕g5 and Black probably wins.

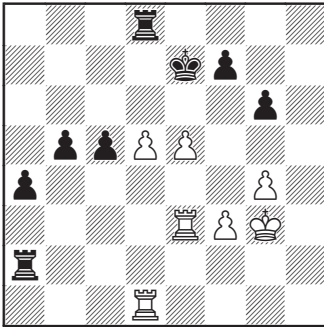

b2.2) 47.g5+ ♕xg5 48.♖g1+ ♕f6 49.♖dg2 ♖e8+ 50.♕f4 ♕e6 51.♖g5 ♕d7 52.a3 ♖b3 53.♖xg6 ♖d3! and Black may win.

43...♖b2+ 44.♕g3

If 44.♖1d2 ♜xd2+! (on 44...a3? 45.♜xb2 axb2 46.♞b3 ♜xd5 (46...b4 47.d6+) 47.♞xb5 ♜xe5 48.♞xb2 White would be safe) 45.♜xd2 b4 46.♚e3 a3 and Black wins.

44...♜xa2 45.♞e3!

Tal thinks that this move was a surprise for Korchnoi, as he used up half of his remaining 20 minutes.

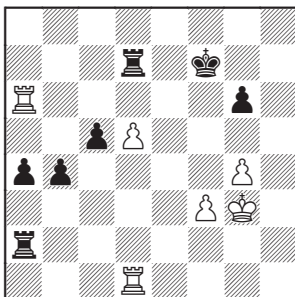

45...b4!

On 45...♞b2 46.e6 creates enough play to hold.

46.e6! ♞a3!

Korchnoi wins a vital tempo by offering to exchange rooks. If 46...b3?? 47.d6+ and White wins. If 46...fxe6? we illustrate how badly Korchnoi needs the extra tempo to win: 47.♞xe6+ ♚f7 48.♞a6 ♞d7 (White holds after 48...♞a3 49.♞e1 or 48...♚g8 49.♞a7 a3 50.♞e1) 49.g5!! a3 50.f4!! (50.♞h1? ♜xd5) 50...b3 (50...♞c2 51.♞h1) 51.♞h1!

a) 51...♜xd5 52.♞h7+ ♚g8 (52...♚e8? 53.♞a8+) 53.♞b7 and White holds.

b) 51...♚g7 52.f5 (52.♞h6 also holds) 52...gxf5 53.g6 ♞d8 54.♞h7+ ♚g8 55.♞aa7 and White holds.

47.♞e2

47.♞xa3 bxa3 48.exf7 ♞b8 wins for Black, as Kasparov pointed out.

47...fxe6 48.♞xe6+ ♚f7

49.♞de1?

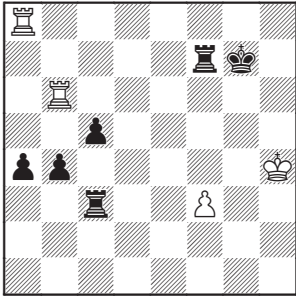

Karpov's position is very difficult, but this loses. It is worth quoting Korchnoi from Anti-Chess: "When I set off to the resumption, I was sure that with accurate play Karpov would be able to save the game. But in my time-trouble he continued playing at blitz speed and missed a certain draw." In this position White had chances, but in those days there were no decent computer chess programs.

a) 49.♞a6 ♞d7.

b) Lilienthal mentions the promising 49.g5!?

b1) 49...♞d7 50.♞c6 ♞c3 51.♞h1 ♜xd5 52.♞h7+ ♚g8 53.♞a7 ♞xg5+ 54.♚h4 ♞f5 55.♞xg6+ ♚f8 56.♞b6

♖f7 57.♖a8+ (57.♖xa4? ♖xf3) 57...
♔g7

58.♔g5!! ♖d7 59.♖xa4 ♖xf3
60.♖a5! ♖c7 (60...♖c3 61.♖g6+
♔f7 62.♖h6=) 61.♖bb5 ♖c3 62.♖a6
♖g3+ (62...♖d3 63.♖aa5) 63.♔f4
♖g1 64.♖a2 and White seems to hold.

b2) 49...♖c3!

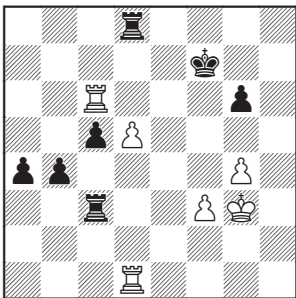

b2.1) 50.♔g4 ♖c4+ 51.f4 ♖f8!!
52.♔g3 ♖e8 and Black wins.

b2.2) 50.♖h1 ♖xd5 51.♖f6+ ♔g7
52.♔g4 ♖f5 and Black wins.

b2.3) 50.♖a6 a3 51.♖e1 ♖d7
52.♖ee6 ♖d3 53.♖xg6 ♖3xd5
54.♔g4 c4 and Black wins.

b2.4) 50.♖de1 ♖d7 51.♖f6+ ♔g7
52.♖ee6 b3 53.♖xg6+ ♔f8 54.♖b6
♖d3 and Black wins.

c) 49.♖c6!! ♖c3 (49...♖d7 50.g5)

50.♖h1! ♔g7 51.♖c7+ ♔f6
52.♖e1 ♖xd5 53.♖c6+ ♔g7 54.♖c7+

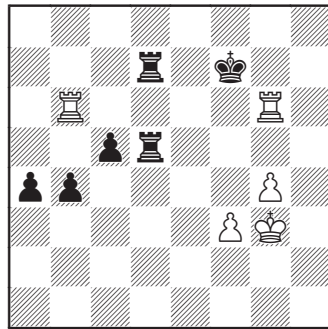

♔h6 55.♖f7!! a3 56.♔h4 a2 57.♖ee7
♖h5+ 58.gxh5 ♖c4+ 59.f4 ♖xf4+
60.♖xf4 g5+ 61.♔g4 gxf4 62.♖e6+
♔g7 63.♖a6 b3 64.♖a7+ and White holds.

49...♖d7!

After this move, White's attack leads to nowhere. According to Lilienthal in Sakkelet, Karpov expected the capture 49...♖xd5?. He was playing well to exploit Korchnoi's time pressure.

50.♖e7+ ♔f8 (50...♔f6 51.♖1e6+
♔g5 52.♖g7 wins as Filip pointed out) 51.♖e8+ ♔g7 52.♖1e7+ ♔h6
53.♔h4 (53.♖f7 ♖ad3 54.♔h4 g5+
55.♔g3 ♖d6 56.♖h8+ ♔g6 57.♖hh7
and White holds according to Filip)
53...g5+ 54.♔g3 ♖d6 55.♖h8+ ♔g6
56.♖hh7 and Black holds.

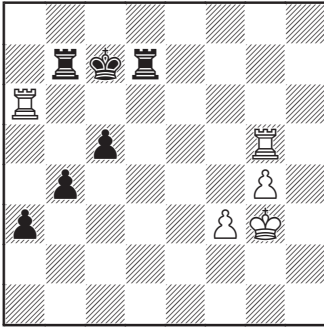

50.♖b6 ♖d3 51.♖ee6 ♖3xd5
52.♖xg6

52...a3

Pushing the pawn is an accomplishment.

53.♖bf6+ ♔e7 54.♖e6+ ♔f8
55.♖ef6+ ♔e7 56.♖e6+ ♔d8
57.♖a6 ♖b7 58.♖g8+ ♔c7 59.♖g7+
♖d7 60.♖g5

60...b3

Now it is all over for White.

61. ♖xc5+ ♔b8 0-1

Game 29 was postponed for several days. First, the electrical transformer outside the building exploded. Keene suspected no foul play as the generator was in bad shape. Korchnoi went to the seaside instead, but here he caught severe sunburn and later another head cold as well, so he needed to postpone the game once more. Back behind the board, Korchnoi looked like a “fluorescent carrot”, but his play was not affected and the game was adjourned with a small plus for him. Keene wrote: “The sealed move over which Korchnoi took thirty-six minutes and forty-five seconds. ... It was painful to watch his indecision on the stage. He thought for fifteen minutes, got up and hid in a corner of the stage (to circumvent prying eyes, I imagine). He then wrote down a sealed move, came back and sat slumped over the board. After a further ten minutes he crossed out his move and repeated the performance, finally sealing the text.”

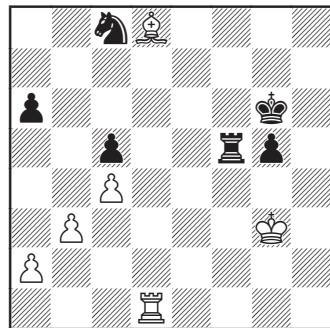

His move was not the best, but still kept an edge. When the game was resumed, Karpov again made the mistake of trying to exploit Korchnoi’s time trouble by blitzing. Again he blundered, and Korchnoi had thus nearly closed the gap: it was 5-4 in the champion’s favour. Afterwards, Korchnoi boasted of his fighting spirit: “Fischer respects me because of this. Everyone else he can intimidate with his own fighting spirit, but not me.”

Vasiukov arrived for this game. Korchnoi didn’t fear him – “he lacks talent” – but it was a fact he knew Korchnoi well, having worked for him in Sousse and the 1974 match.

Game 288

V. Korchnoi – A. Karpov

World Championship Match (29),
Baguio City, 1978

60.a4

Korchnoi pushes the a-pawn closer to promotion.

60...♔f7

Black could also move the rook along the f-file: 60...♖f7 61.a5 ♖f5 62.♖d7 (62.♙c7 ♘e7) 62...♖f7 and he holds.